

For Costica, little Johns House is the only home he has known, it's his family and he loves it. Costica used to live in an orphanage but having a family home has meant that he has just flourished. He has learnt to run, play football and even ride a bike. He now lives in a semi-independent way, and enjoys the responsibility of helping with chores in the house and outside maintenance jobs. Having cerebral palsy used to mean he was unwanted in the society, but LJH has changed his future and he is a much loved member of the village.
